Charlie and Wolf

Jasper was reading a story about a boy called Charlie. Charlie was a shepherd. He took care a flock of sheep on the hill. One day, Charlie felt very bored so he shouted, ‘Help! Wolf!’ the villagers heard the noise and rushed over to chase the wolves away.

But Charlie was lying to the villagers. There was NO wolf. He was a dishonest boy. He laughed at the villagers, ‘There’s no wolf. Silly!’ The villagers were very angry. They were cheated by Charlie and left angrily. One of the villagers kindly said to him, ‘Please don’t tell lies again.’

The other day, the wicked witch kidnapped Charlie’s sister so Charlie called the villagers for help and said, ‘My sister is kidnapped by the wicked witch, please save my sister!’ but the villagers said, ‘We don’t trust you anymore because you always make up stories!’ and they ignored Charlie.

After reading the story, Jasper shared the story with his father. Jasper said, 'If I were Charlie, I would say sorry to the villagers for telling lies. He learnt how to be an honest person. 'Good for you!' his father smiled warmly.

Naughty Danny gets into trouble

Danny as a naughty boy. One Saturday morning, Danny was playing at the dining table. Crush! Shattered glass was on the table, Mum turned her head to see what happened, Danny was shaking in fear as Mum furiously said, ‘How dare you! And before she could say anything else, Danny had already ran out of the house, away into the forest.

He ran and ran, a long way from home. He was lost! ‘W-Where am I?’ Danny stuttered as he looked around the forest. Danny was hungry, but there was no food anywhere. He regretted running out into the forest. ‘I should just take the punishment Mum was going to give me...’ Danny thought to himself.

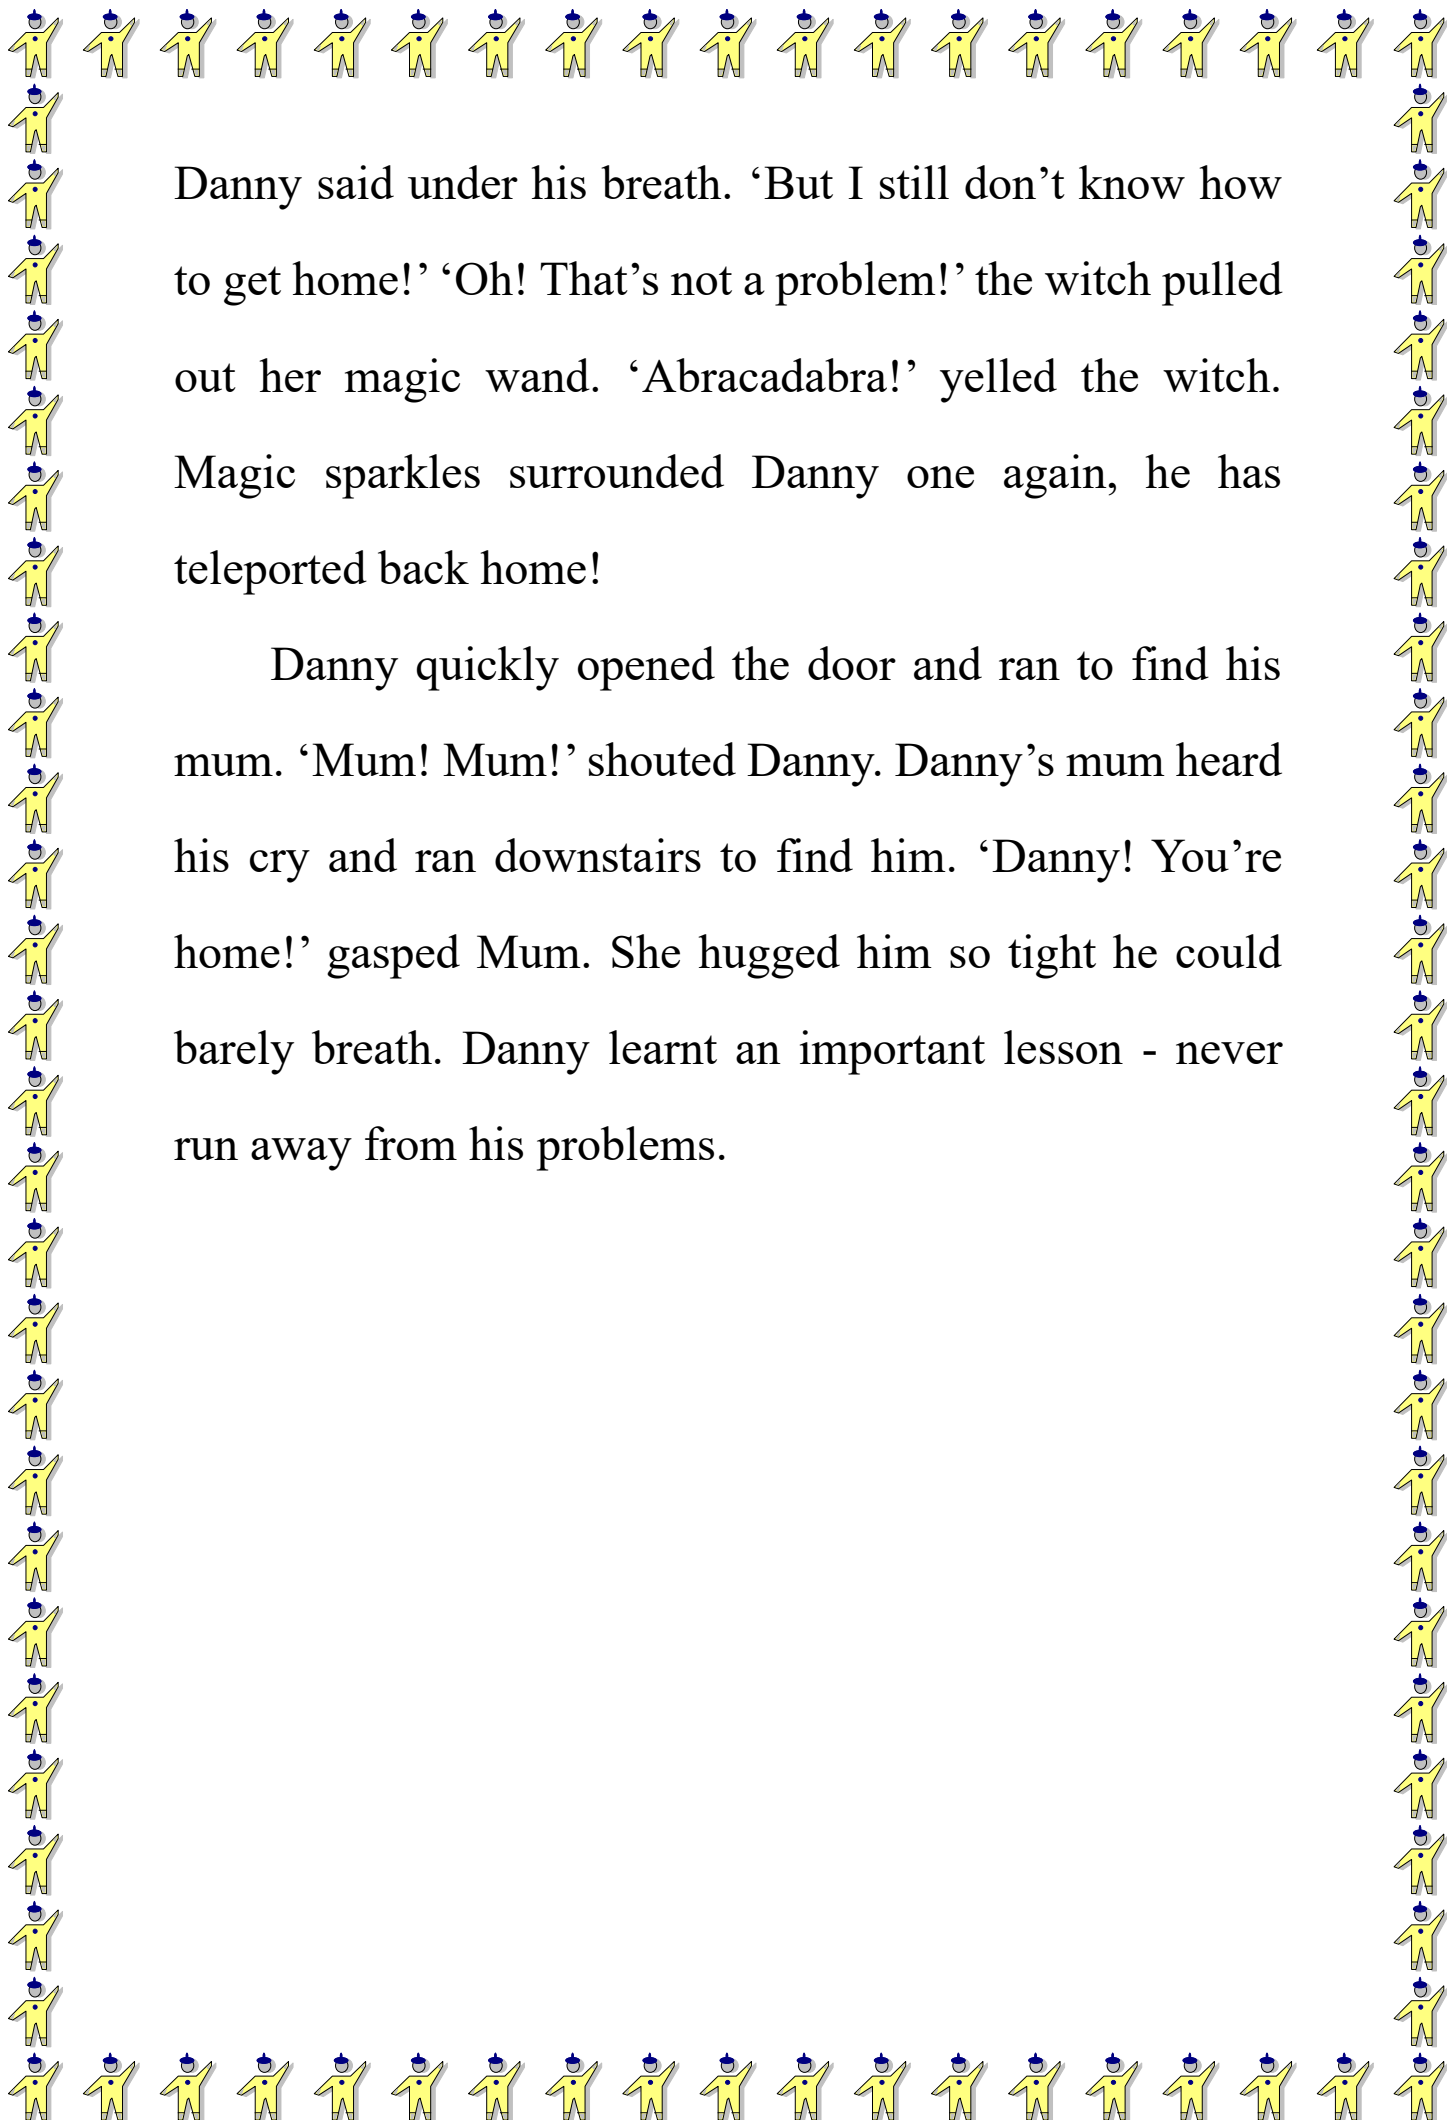

But there was no turning back, he had already lost his way home, so he continued searching for food.

Danny soon found a house in the forest, he slowly approached the house and peeked through the window, ‘Is there any food...?’ he thought to himself. He ran into the house and found an entire ‘Thanks Giving Dinner’ laid out on the table. Danny grabbed a seat and ate like there was no tomorrow.

After eating all the food, Danny was very full. ‘Ohhhh...I’m so full...I feel like my stomach is going to burst!’ said Danny while he was rubbing his belly. Suddenly, a lot of sparkles flew around Danny. Whoosh! He turned into a pig!’ Danny said with tears dripping down his eyes. Danny just sat in his chair, frozen with terror, soon, a witch came into the house, ‘Oh my...! What happened to you little boy?’ ‘The witch said, ‘I-I ate the food on your table and I turned into a pig.’ Danny stuttered. ‘Oh you silly boy!’ giggled the witch. ‘That food was magical!’ I made a new potion and made some food with it, it was supposed to give you a magical power. But I think I put the wrong ingredient in, don’t worry! It’s not permanent, you should turn back in 3...2...1...’ And WHOOSH! Danny was human again! Phew! Thank God!

Danny said under his breath. ‘But I still don’t know how to get home!’ ‘Oh! That’s not a problem!’ the witch pulled out her magic wand. ‘Abracadabra!’ yelled the witch. Magic sparkles surrounded Danny one again, he has teleported back home!

Danny quickly opened the door and ran to find his mum. ‘Mum! Mum!’ shouted Danny. Danny’s mum heard his cry and ran downstairs to find him. ‘Danny! You’re home!’ gasped Mum. She hugged him so tight he could barely breath. Danny learnt an important lesson - never run away from his problems.

Naughty Danny

One day, Danny was playing around when he accidentally broke the vase. Mum heard the sound and was furious and shouted, ‘You naughty boy! How dare you break my favourite vase!’ Danny was trembling with fear and got away from the house as far as he could.

After a while, Danny was starting to get hungry and was lost. He said, ‘I’m starving, where am I?’ he began to look for food everywhere and saw something far away so he set off to check what it was. When he got closer, he saw a mysterious house in the forest and entered. He was taken back by what he saw. It was a massive amount of food and nobody was there. He decided to eat a sandwich and thought it was good. Danny said, ‘It’s mind-blowing that there’s a house in the middle of nowhere that has a lot of food!’ He was over the moon.

Suddenly, he turned into a PIG! He tried to say something but all he could say was the word ‘OINK’!

Danny turned around and saw a wizard! He thought that it was a dream. But to his surprise, he wasn't dreaming! He couldn't believe his eyes! The wizard was filled with rage because the boy ate his food! Danny found out why he turned into a pig and said, 'I won't ever eat your good again!' The wizard decided to give him a second chance. After he got home, he went to apologize to his mum for breaking her vase. He also learnt that he should never be so careless.

A day tour in Hong Kong

Miss Morris was an Australian tourist visiting Hong Kong. Mr Chan and Mrs Chan met Miss Morris in the airport. Mr Chan and Mrs Chan said, ‘Hi!’ Miss Morris said, ‘Hi! Long time no see!’ Mr Chan and Mrs Chan said, ‘Oh yes! Long time no see! How are you?’ Miss Morris said, ‘Oh! I am good!’ Then they went to the bus stop. They were over the moon.

Miss Morris, Mr Chan and Mrs Chan went to Mong Kok. At the bus stop, Miss Morris said, ‘The traffic makes so much noise and so many fumes. The buses produce noise and air pollution.’ Mrs Chan said, ‘Yes! So many cars produce so many fumes and the traffic makes so much noise!’ They felt worried about the pollution!

Then, Miss Morris, Mr Chan and Mrs Chan went to ABC Shopping Mall. They went into IV handbags shop. Miss Morris said, ‘What are these handbags made from?’ Mr and Mrs Chan said, ‘The handbags are made from crocodiles' skins.' Miss Morris was surprised, 'Oh! Hunters will keep killing crocodiles unless people stop buying leather handbags.' Mrs Chan said, 'But Hong Kong people like them!' Miss Morris felt upset!

After that, Miss Morris, Mr Chan and Mrs Chan went to Cooking Seafood Restaurant. Mr Chan pointed at the poster and said, 'Oh! The shark fin soup has a special offer.' Mrs Chan said, 'That is cheap! Let's eat shark fin soup! Tasty!' 'You Hong Kong people!' shouted Miss Morris angrily.

In the end, they quarreled with one another. Miss Morris went back to Australia angrily. Once she was back, she wrote an article about protecting the endangered animals. Miss Morris also called Mr and Mrs Chan. She hopes they would help protect the endangered animals.

What a valuable lesson! People should protect the endangered animals and love the animals. Every move counts!

Losing the race

On Sports Day, Jacky, Dan, Tony and Kelvin joined a 4X100 relay race. At first, all of them felt so nervous that one of them almost fainted. One of them felt so confident that he thought their team could win the 4X100 relay race for sure.

‘Beep...the race will start in 30 seconds,’ said the announcer. All contestants were in position. ‘3...2...1...’ The race has began. Dan ran so fast that he was faster than Mr Incredible in the movie.

After a hectic race, it came down to the last runners. But at that time, something unbelievable happened. Tony tripped and fell to the ground. The audience, watching from above, were shocked and couldn’t believe their eyes. Some people’s eyeballs almost fell out because of what happened. Tony came in last, and his teammates were so mad at him that Dan almost punched him right in the face and shouted at him like a wild dog. At that time, Dan’s face and ears were so red that he looked like a tomato. But other than that, Jacky was the only one remained calm. Then he said, ‘Everyone clam down. It’s just a race. It doesn’t matter, guys. What matters is that we were a team, as we were meant to be, and that’s way it’s called teamwork. Look at Tony. Why don’t you guys help him? He is hurt right now. Being hurt is much more important than winning a race. Got it?’ Dan and Kelvin said, ‘Got it!’ and they both said sorry to Tony. ‘When Tony went to the surgery room, he panicked because he thought he needed to go to the emergency room because his knee hurt so badly.

At last, Tony was hurt badly so he needed a wheelchair. At that time, the teacher announced that Tony’s team got the first place because when Tony fell and tripped, his body crossed over the finishing line. At that moment, everyone cheered loudly. Tony’s teammates were shocked and speechless. What a surprising and shocking ending!
