A shopping experience

Last Sunday, Amy and her Mum went to a supermarket. Mum said, 'We need to buy some tomatoes and some eggs.' Amy said, 'Okay, I will put some of them in the trolley.'

Amy wanted to buy potato chips badly so she asked, 'Mum, can you buy a packet of Lays?' Mum said, 'No! I reject this because it is bad for your health.' Amy cried, 'No! I want this!' Mum shouted, 'I said no! Young lady!'

After that, Mum walked away. Amy had ten dollars in her pocket. She went to the checkout. She tried to buy a packet of Lays but she didn't have much money.

In the end, Mum found out she tried to buy a packet of chips so her Mum scolded her for trying to buy a packet of Lays.

Old Hong Kong and Hong Kong Today

Life in Hong Kong was very different 60 years ago. Life in Hong Kong is more convenient in different aspects.

Sixty years ago, there were markets but there weren't any supermarkets. People could buy fruits such as apples, bananas, oranges, pineapples, watermelons and grapes. Nowadays, people buy things in supermarkets or online shops. People order with their phones, laptops and iPads. Many people do online shopping. I like shopping online better because I don't like going out.

Also, there weren't any electronic games for example as switch, ps5 and ps4, so everybody played hopscotch and hide-and-seek with their friends. Now everybody plays electronic games such as Roblox.

Besides, nobody had smart phones or computers. Now, people play with their smartphones and computers. If they have digital cameras, they can take photos and videos. I like using my smartphone because I like playing Roblox and watching pop music videos. If I don't have my phone, life would be boring.

I think life in Hong Kong nowadays is more convenient. Do you agree? What do you think?

When I was little

Dear Frank,

How are you? I miss you so much. When can I see you? Let's see each other at the Peak next month.

When I was little, I couldn't go to school by myself. My grandma helped me. I was happy.

I could climb the stairs and pack my school bag by myself when I was young.

Now I can wash my shoes but I can't tie my shoelaces. I can cook tomatoes with eggs. My mum says the food is delicious. Can you bath by yourself? I can bath by myself.

I am looking forward to your letter soon too.

Love,

Jenny

Itinerary: A 3-day trip in Hong Kong

My pen friend Daisy and his family from Canada are going to visit Hong Kong. They will stay in Hong Kong for three days. I am planning an itinerary for him and his family.

On the first day, we will go to Sai Kung by bus. We will visit the water sports center. We will do water sports, for example, surfing, swimming or even diving. We will eat a fabulous buffet for lunch, such as pasta and chicken wings.

On the second day, we will go to Disneyland by MTR. We will meet Linabell and Minnie Mouse. We will ride on the stinky dog spin or the rides. We will eat some amazing fast food for lunch, for example, French fries or hotdogs.

On the third day, we will go to the Peak by tram. We will see the view of Hong Kong. We will take photos. We Will eat some wonderful Italian food such as spaghetti with meatballs for lunch.
