

Naughty Danny

One day, Danny played at home. Suddenly, he threw his toy and broke the vase. His mum shouted, 'How dare you!' Danny got away quickly.

After that, he ran into the forest but got lost. 'Oh no! Where am I?' he said. He was exhausted and hungry so he started to look for the food.

He found a house in the forest. He walked into the house and saw there was various food on the table. 'Wow!' Danny was surprised and started eating.

He ate and ate, then turned into a pig. 'Oh no! What should I do?' Danny thought. He was scared so he called for help. But there was nobody in the forest.

In the end, Danny went back home and said sorry to his mum. His mum forgave him and brought him to the doctor. The doctor said, 'If you start to do sport, you will turn back into a human.' They went back home and he started running every day. A month later, he turned back into a human.

Dishonest Charlie

Jasper was reading a story at home and he shared it with his father. The story was about Charlie who was taking care of sheep in the hill. Suddenly, he felt bored so he shouted, 'Oh no! Help, wolf!' The villagers ran to the hill quickly.

Charlie said, 'Ha ha! There's no wolf. Silly!' He laughed at them. A villager said, 'Please don't tell lies again.' But he ignored it. The villagers got angry and left.

One day, a wicked witch caught Charlie's sister. 'A witch has just caught my baby sister! Help me, please!' Charlie told the villagers. But they ignored him. Charlie started crying.

After reading the story, Jasper told his dad, 'If I were Charlie, I would apologize to the villagers and ask them for help.' He learned that he needed to be an honest person.

My ideal job – Be a programmer

My name is Tiffany. I want to be a programmer when I grow up because it is a meaningful job. If I become a programmer, I will develop softwares and write programmes

Programmers need to be careful so that they can develop apps cautiously. They need to be smart too. Their smart thinking leads to efficient solutions. They continuously optimize the programme to help people use apps more conveniently. They don't need to wear uniform but casual wear. They work regular hours from 9-5.

I think this job is suitable for me because I am careful and smart. I hope I can be a programmer one day.

There are a lot of problems in Africa. There is a drought so they can't grow plants or crops. People don't have enough money to buy food because they don't have jobs. The water is very dirty. People get sick after drinking dirty water. They become weak so they can't work.

Also, the children do not have enough books to read. They are too poor. They are not enough desks or chairs. The classrooms are too crowded. There are no heaters or fans so it's too cold in winter and too hot in summer.

Besides, there are very few doctors and nurses. When they get ill, they can't ask for help.

To help the people in Africa, we can donate money to charity. We can run a second-hand stall. We can sell or buy flags. We can go on a charity walk too. Let's help them together!

Helpers for the fun fair

One day, Amy and Penny were outside a store when they saw a poster on the wall. The poster was about a charity fun fair that Rainbow Children's Centre ran. They wanted to find some helpers.

The two girls were interested in it. They wanted to help. However, there was a problem. Neither Amy nor Penny knew how to cook or bake.

They were worried so they decided to ask Mrs. Chan for help. When they saw Mrs. Chan, Mrs. Chan asked, 'What's the matter?' 'We want to be helpers for the charity fun fair but neither Amy nor I know how to cook.' Penny replied.

In the end, Amy thought of an idea, 'How about we make crafts?' She asked. 'Sure!' Penny replied. They went to the school's art room and started making crafts. At the charity fun fair, a lot of people came to their stall and bought their crafts. They raised a lot of money. They were happy.

Visiting Hong Kong

Today, Miss Morris was visiting Hong Kong from Australia. Her friends were going to pick her up at the airport. When they saw Miss Morris, they were very happy and they talked about Hong Kong.

They wanted to go to the mall by bus but there was a lot of smog. Miss Morris covered her nose and said, 'The traffic makes so much noise. The bus produces so much smoke. We can travel by MTR.'

They arrived at the mall. They saw some leather handbags. Miss Morris was shocked and said, 'Hunters will keep killing crocodiles unless we stop buying leather handbags. Instead, we can buy recycling bags.'

After shopping, they went to eat food. They went to a seafood restaurant. Miss Morris friends said, 'Let's eat shark fin soup.' But Miss Morris rejected them. 'Sharks will become extinct unless we stop eating shark fin soup.' Miss Morris said.

In the end, Miss Morris suggested to eat at another restaurant. Her friends agreed too. Everyone was happy.

After a few days, Miss Morris had to go back to Australia. She had an unforgettable trip in Hong Kong.

Farewell my friend

Dear Joyce,

I'm so sad that we are leaving our primary school soon. You are my best friend forever.

You are very helpful. You are the monitress of our class. You always help teachers carefully. You are also very humble. You never boast. That's why you are always my best friend.

I remember we went to Foshan for study tour. We sat on the tour bus together. Also, we ate lunch together! On the bus, you shared your snacks with me. You are so generous. You taught me how to use earphones. What an unforgettable day!

Also, I enjoyed the times when we chatted, drew pictures, and prepared for the exams together. I have many delightful memories with you. Thank you.

I hope we can be best friends forever. Keep in touch!

Best wishes,

Tiffany
